The cost of advertising on TV can seem both confusing and expensive but it is one of the best mediums to advertise your business or product and reach a wider audience.

The cost of advertising on TV stations in Nigeria depends on so many things and I will list them in this article. Whether you're a small brand, a new business or an established company, we can talk you through your options and get you up and running.

Let's take a look at the costing example below as a starting point. It covers regional costs and some National Digital channels. It's followed by a few suggestions to consider when budgeting and best of all, a quick look at how a TV advert can actually cost you NOTHING!

THE COST OF ADVERTISING ON TV STATIONS DEPENDS ON THE LENGTH OF THE AD.

The cost of advertising on TV stations depends on the length of the ad, who produces the ad, the markets in which it airs – as well as how many times it has been aired – all determine how much television advertising costs.

Commercials aired in local markets range anywhere from a few hundred dollars per ad, up to several thousand dollars, if the ad airs nationally.

The length of the ad also influences the price. A quick, 10-to-15 second ad will be less expensive than a 30- or a 60-second ad. Most stations are offered shorter commercials to follow a faster-paced society with a greater number of ads during a show than were shown several decades ago.

The Number Of Times Your Ads Will Be Put On Air

Local television stations usually have an in-house production company that can write and produce advertisements with their own marketing team.

The local stations can also help to figure out which demographic would benefit most from your ad, and from there, the number of times your ad should air.

Often, they will create the ad for a nominal fee or even for free – the catch is that you have to sign a commitment to pay to air the ad for a certain amount of weeks or months. But if you were already planning on a marketing blitz, this may be cost-effective for you.

Choosing an Appropriate Airtime

Choosing an appropriate time depending on what you are advertising, so it can get to the right audience. It can be aired after dinner but before bed, and people are most available and willing to watch television.

It's loosely defined as between 7:00 pm and 10:00 pm, Central

Time or it can run earlier or later, depending on your local market numbers for its 6:00 p.m. and 10:00 p.m. news shows. This is when running TV ads is the most expensive.

Ads during the early evening run are usually higher because of the large viewership. The price drops dramatically during the day to a low of a few hundred. Airing during highly rated syndicated shows will put you at the higher end of the going rate.

The Time of Year

When planning to invest in television advertising, then January is your time to do that. Stations are coming off of heavy holiday expenditures and they're hungry to generate revenue.

Ask them to wheel and deal, and you can come away with a comparative bargain. Some stations offer 3, 6, and 12-months contracts, and they will discount you anywhere from 5 to 10 percent, if you sign with them during the rest of the year.

So it is in your best interest to bargain for deeper discounts during the first part of any new year.

So how much does television advertising really cost? It depends on your markets, your airtimes, and your needs. The great news is that stations are always ready and willing to work with your budget and your needs, so there is no reason not to market yourself fully.

The cost of advertising on TV may vary depending on different aspects. In order to understand how much does a TV ad cost, you need to make sure you know the features you want it to have.

The length of TV advertising is an important factor that will definitely influence the final cost

CNN advertising in Nigeria

CNN advertising in Nigeria and sub-sharan Africa. Advertising through CNN is a productive advertising method in the Television media type. It helps your brand reach out to the right target audience.

Television advertising helps the advertiser to target a very large group of people and also provides the ease of targeting a fixed time band based on the requirement.

Advertising through CNN is suitable for a brand that is trying to reach out to a large number of premium users within specified geography in a small time.

Since the channel conveys different sets of programs, it appeals to almost everyone in the family thereby assuring a complete household reach.

CNN is the leading Television Channel and is strongly approved for all marketing campaigns.

HOW TO SELECT THE RIGHT AGENCY IN NIGERIA FOR ADVERTISING IN CNN

Media agencies can play a decisive role if you are planning to advertise on CNN. There are several roles that a media agency plays while carrying out your TV campaign.

Firstly, the media agency will help you in determining whether advertising in CNN is right for your brand.

The agency uses BARC data to decide the TG and CNN viewer profile matches.

Once you have decided to go ahead with advertising in CNN, the next step for the TV ad buying agency is to organize the frequency and timing for the ads (called spots) and agree on the right price.

Planning the adverts will revolve around the campaign objective and the pricing, while advertising in prime time might give you the highest reach but the agency might suggest a non-prime time as it grants a lower cost per reach.

Such variables can be handled by the media agency while buying advert space in CNN.

The last role of the TV advert buying agency is to ensure that the advert is played on CNN and issue the advertiser with the number of people who saw your advert.

HOW DOES CNN ADVERTISING IN NIGERIA WORKS

Adverts in CNN are shown both during the break as well as during the content being played.

There is more creative space while placing an advert during the break, whereas messages need to be packaged with the content while selecting the advertising options during the content.

Some of the approved advertising options on CNN are:

a) Video Ads – Video adverts are broadcasted during ad breaks. The minimum time for a video ad is 10 seconds and increases by 5.

b) L Bands – Aston Bands are thin horizontal strips that show during a program at the bottom of the screen. The Aston Band time-scale per exposure is 10 seconds. Choose the number of Aston Bands per day and the total number of days you'd desire to advertise. Prices vary in agreement to the time the band is chosen.

c) Brand Integrations – These are custom media options and are designed based on your advertising budget and the objective.

HOW PRICING WORKS

- Rates revolve around the creative length, time band selected, and duration of the campaign
- Premium charges are functional for targeting specific programs, spot positioning, and crunched time bands.

EXECUTION DETAILS

To advertise in CNN you can adhere to the following steps:

1. Acquire rates for advertising in CNN on the Media Options and Pricing page. Note that rates differ as per the time band. You should add the media to your bag and choose the time bands there.
2. Select the advert type that is convenient for your creativity, objective, and budget. CNN offers video ads, scrollers, Aston Bands, and Brand integrations for advertising. Moreover, you can also select from the digital advert formats.

3. Other factors that require a decision are Advert length, the total number of adverts, Time band, start date, and Campaign duration.
4. Check the advert space availability on CNN and other privileges like discounts, depending on the time of booking
5. Make the payment for advertising on CNN and submit the artwork.
6. Tentative log timings will be distributed on a daily basis so that the client can watch their adverts live which is being shown on CNN.

RADIO Advertising in Nigeria

Radio advertising in Nigeria is a form of marketing strategy that uses the radio both traditional stations, and satellite and internet radio to boost a product or service.

It is a less costly form of advertising in many cases, compared to that of television advertising.

With the advancement in technology, radio advertisements are becoming improved when it comes to quality.

Regardless of the competition from other modes of advertisement, Nielson Audio reports that 243 million people listen to the radio and also listen to advertisements on the radio.

Radio advertising in Nigeria has proven to be an outstanding medium for reaching audiences through its high penetration levels and repetition.

Radio adverts are also highly memorable and gives rise to excellent consumer recall and a high call to action.

Empire can propose the best stations for your target audience and objectives within Nigeria and help you project your radio adverts from start to finish.

Let's dive into some radio advertising basics to help small businesses be quick-witted with how they buy radio adverts.

FORMAT FOR RADIO ADVERTISING IN NIGERIA

The format decides the audience the station appeals to and the message it delivers to advertisers.

Some of the most common radio advertising formats include:

- Progressive rock
- Alternative
- Classic Rock
- Golden oldies
- Christian Rock
- News and Talk Radio
- Classical
- Adult contemporary
- Easy Listening

ADVANTAGES OF RADIO ADVERTISING IN NIGERIA

Some people may think that radio advertising is becoming more outdated because of the prevalence of the internet and other related advertising platforms.

However, this is not the case millions of people all over the country are still listening to the radio, with the majority of them listening from inside their vehicle or at their home.

Many companies are still administering marketing budgets to the radio to take advantage of the benefits listed below.

- Selective Targeting

Each radio station within your market will target specific demographics and market segments. These are usually designated by the programming, type of music being played, the on-air personality, and what time of day your radio advertising will run.

▪ Increased Frequency

Radio advertising is described by many as a frequency medium. This means that radio relies on repetition, aka frequency of message to be effective, unlike television advertising which relies on reach and visual presentation.

Playing your advertisement numerous times (some say it takes 3 times hearing a spot before you internalize it, acknowledge it, and remember it) will ensure that your listeners will be familiar with your product or service.

▪ More Memorable

Radio advertisements can be more extraordinary compared to written and visual adverts. According to researchers, sound can be stored effectively inside memory for a longer time than visuals. This is why some companies are doing their best to design a memorable jingle that will stick in the minds of those who will listen to it.

▪ Cost-Effective

Radio advertising is cost-effective when compared to that of television and print advertisements. Usually, the cost to design the spot if you don't have one will be included in the radio advertising campaign's price.

- Short Time to Market

When creating a television or print advertisement, the time frame needed to create a single commercial or print ad would span for weeks or even months. However, with radio advertisement, a radio host can advertise the product or service in a split-second.

DISADVANTAGES OF RADIO ADVERTISING IN NIGERIA

- Poor Attentiveness

One of the most common disadvantages of advertising on the radio is the poor attentiveness of the people who are listening. Many people are either changing channels on their radio when driving or are too absorbed on the road to pay attention to what is being said on the radio.

- Lack Of Visual Appeal

Compared to television which uses the sense of sight and sound, radio advertising only influences one of the five senses sounds.

One way to offset this is to make use of additional advertising channels that the radio station has such as buying ads on their website or for sponsorships at events.

- Buying Spots Can Be Challenging

Radio stations have regional sales reps that also prefer spots to bigger brands. Often, these spots are organized far in advance and take inventory away from new advertisers; thus, sometimes the process of obtaining the spot you want when inventory is low can be difficult.

We suggest using a unique phone number or website address that can only be attributed to the radio advertisement. This will help you better track the feedback you're getting from your radio advertising.
